Conductor J. W. Lovell Paralyzed While Attending to His Duties.

ALLEGED MURDERER CAUGHT

Rev. W. W. Sisk Asked to Reconsider His Resignation.

Manchester Bureau, Times-Dispatch, No. 1102 Hull Street.

Detectives Wiltshire and McMahon, of the Richmond department, arrested a negro named James Lovie in Chesterfield county yesterday afternoon, on the charge of killing a white man at Columbia, S. C., about a year ago. The negro and the white man went out in the country near Columbia to get evergreens for Christmas decorations. They went in a wagon, and and the body concealed in the underbrush. The body was not found for several days. The negro left Columbia and came to Manchester, where he remained a short while, afterward securing work on a farm near the city, where he has worked ever since. The detectives got a line on him yesterday, and in a few hours had him landed behind the bars at the old Second Station. Officer Strickland came from South Carolina yesterday and carried the man back to that State last night. The negro denied all knowledge of night. Th

Conductor Was Paralyzed.

While Conductor Was Paralyzed:
While Conductor J. W. Lovell was running his train on the Southern road from Durham to Keysville yesterday morning, he was stricken with paralysis and had to be brought to his home here on the next train, which reached the city about $1.40 o'clock in the afternoon. Captain Lovell has been on the road for many years, and is one of the most widely known conductors on the Durham and years, and is one of the most widely known conductors on the Durham and Keyaville division. The attack was a severe one, and the sufferer was for a time unconscious. He was carried to his home on Porter Street, near Cowardin Avenue, and was attended by Dr. Merchant, who made him as comfortable as possible. He was reported as being in a bad way last night, but was resting as easily as possible under the circumstances.

May Reconsider.

Rev. W. W. Sisk, of the Clopton Street Baptist Church, having tendered his resignation as paster on Sunday morning after the usual services, a church meeting was held to consider the resignation. The church and congregation by an almost unanimous vote requested the Rev. Mr. Sisk to withdraw his resignation and consist in the partners. The preserve and remain in the pastorate. The pastor now has this matter under consideration and will reply in due time. He has been the paster of the Clopton Street Church for over five years, and under his ministry the church has prospered greatly. Conundrum Tea.

Interesting Conferences Held Yesterday Morning-Revivals to be Held.

Lenten sarvices at all the Episcopal churches Sunday were interesting and were attended by large congregations. At St. Paul's Church, Rev. Mr. Barnwell prouched morning and night to large con gregations.

Very large congregations attended the usual services at the Monumental Church. The lectures by Dr. Evans on the makers of church history being delivered every Friday night during the Lenten season at the Monumental Church, are very ... teresting and are being heard by large congregations. These lectures will be continued every Friday evening through thé Lenten tide.

The Methodist ministers' meeting held esterday morning at the Centenary he Methodist pasters of Richmond and Manchester, and was a most interesting meeting, one of the most interesting in meeting, one of the most interesting in many respects, held this year. All of the pastors reported good congregations for Sunday and increased interest in church work. Many of them reported additions to the church membership and very gratifying features of the meeting was the rying features of the meeting was the testimony of the preachers concerning in-creased interest in the Sunday school work. Rev. J. Sydney Peters, who has been attending the sessions of the Balti-more conference held at Winchester. gave an interesting running account his trip to that historio town and of the doings of the conference. He said he went early and stayed late, finding the interest so great he could not easily get away. ## THE DEATH OF DR. S. D. DREWRY

Life of the Well Known Physician Ended Sunday After Long Illness.

INCIDENTS OF HIS CAREER

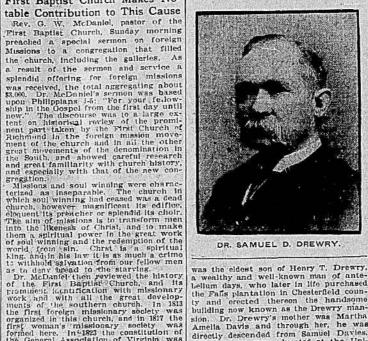

Surgeon in the Confederate Navy-Long a Practitioner in Chesterfield.

Dr. S. D. Drewry died at 6:25 o'clock Sunday evening at "Mincola," his pretty country home in Chesterfield kounty. Heart trouble with other complications was the cause of his death. He was in his seventy-third year and up to a few months ago had scarcely known a day's ake place from St. Paul's Church at 2:15 o'clock to-morrow afternoon, Rev. J. Francis Ribble, of Petersburg, officiating, and the interment will be made in the Drewry section in Hollywood, where Dr.

Drewry's parents rest.
Some months ago Dr. Drewry was taken Some months ago Dr. Drewry was taken ill on returning from a visit to his patients. His condition for a time was serious, but his fine constitution and splendid will-power enabled him to raily partially. Some weeks thereafter he came, accompanied by his wife, to the Memorial Hospital here, where he inderwent treatment. It was evident, however, and he himself fully recognized the fact, that there was no hope for his recovery. He, therefore, returned home and, though, suffering intensely, awaited the end with calmness and fortitude. His wife and children were constantly with him and did everything possible for his comfort.

Native of Amelia.

Native of Amelia Samuel Davies Drewry was born in Amelia county, September 12, 1832. He was the eldest son of Henry T. Drewry, a wealthy and well-known man of antelellum days, who later in life purchased the Fafis plantation in Chesterfield county and creeted thereon the handsome building now known as the Drewry mansion. Dr. Drewry's mother was Martha Amella Davis and through her, he was directly descended from Samuel Davies, Dr. Drewry was educated at the University of Virginia, the University of Pennsylvania, and the Medical College of Virginia. His bright, retentive mind enabled him to easily master whatever he undertook, and he took a high stand as a physician.

Drewry hecame assistant surgeon in the Confederate navy, and as such did all possible for the advancement of the cause of the South.

He was twice married. His first wife Dr. W. S. Thayer, of Baltimore, will lecture this evening at $:30 o'clock in the amphitheatre of the University College of Medicine. His subject will be "The Prevention of Tuberculosis." The city officials have been invited to be present and the lecture will be free to the public. Those who have not already sorten ticksts can get them from the proctor of the college.

Dr. Thayer is an associate of Professor Osi r, of Baltimore, and president of the Maryland Tuberculosis Commission, and 's thoroughly conversant with his subject. The secretary of the State Board of Health will read the exact statistics for the past ten years, bearing on

Seem Quite Sure of Victory. The climax of the controversy over the question of a single or double primary in Richmond will be reached at Murphy's Hotel on Friday night at 8 o'clock, when the City Democratic Committee will vote upon the proposition. A great deal of work has been done on both sides. There may be an effort to postpone consideration of the question until some later day, and it is not unlikely that the first test of strength may come over such a motion. If this is defeated, those who fayor two primaries will then proceed to fix a date for the first one, which will be for the nomination of municipal officers and members of the Lagislature.
